MAJOR ENTRY-LEVEL JOBS

The Postal Service recruits, tests, screens, selects, and hires qualified applicants for a number of major entry-level jobs, including city carrier, distribution clerk, mail processor, mail handler, etc. Most new employees are designated as “part-time flexible” (PTF). They are paid an hourly rate and work a flexible schedule as required by the workflow.

CITY CARRIER: Travels planned routes to deliver and collect mail. City carriers typically cover their route on foot or by vehicle. They must work outdoors in all kinds of weather, have a current valid state driver's license and a safe driving record.

DISTRIBUTION CLERK: Sorts incoming and outgoing mail in both plant or post office facilities. Sorts mail not handled by automated equipment.

MAIL PROCESSOR: Operates mail processing equipment, acts as a trouble shooter for the equipment, collates, bundles and transfers processed mail from one area to another. This position requires employees to be on their feet all day.

MAIL HANDLER: Loads and unloads containers of mail. Mail handlers transport mail and empty equipment throughout the building. They also open and empty sacks of mail. This position requires heavy lifting.

WORK ENVIRONMENT

Most postal employees work in a plant environment. A variety of machinery, conveyer belts, and special equipment for moving heavy loads are part of most Postal Service work areas. The work often requires the lifting of heavy objects and can be dirty and physically demanding. Postal employees also work in local post offices, where they deliver the mail in all kinds of weather. Some other employees working at post offices sell stamps and merchandise to the public.

COMPENSATION/ BENEFITS PROGRAMS

COMPENSATION: In addition to highly competitive basic pay rates, most Postal Service employees also receive cost-of-living adjustments (COLA), overtime pay, night shift differential, and Sunday premium pay. COLAs help protect pay against inflation and are applied semi-annually to basic pay. Overtime is paid at one and one-half times the applicable hourly rate for work in excess of 8 hours per day, or 40 hours within a workweek. Night shift differential is paid at a specified dollar rate for all hours worked between 6pm and 6am. Sunday premium is paid at 25 percent for work scheduled on Sunday.

HEALTH INSURANCE: The Postal Service participates in the Federal Employees Health Benefits (FEHB) Program, which provides excellent coverage and flexibility with most of the cost paid by the Postal Service. There are many plans available, including both traditional insurance coverage and Health Maintenance Organizations (HMOs). Employee premium contributions are not subject to most taxes, making health insurance even more affordable.

RETIREMENT: The Postal Service participates in the federal retirement program, which provides a defined benefit annuity at normal retirement age as well as disability coverage.

THRIFT SAVINGS PLAN: After a waiting period, career postal employees may contribute to the Thrift Savings Plan (TSP), which is similar to 401(k) retirement savings plans offered by private sector employers. Employees contribute to TSP on a tax-deferred basis, and may receive automatic and matching contributions (up to 5 percent of pay) from the Postal Service.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE: Newly hired postal employees are covered under Social Security and Medicare.

LIFE INSURANCE: The Postal Service offers coverage through the Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance (FGLI) Program. The cost of basic coverage is fully paid by the Postal Service, with the option to purchase additional coverage through payroll deduction.

FLEXIBLE SPENDING ACCOUNTS: Career employees may participate in the Flexible Spending Accounts (FSA) Program after one year of service. Tax-free FSA contributions can be used to cover most out-of-pocket health care and dependent care (day care) expenses.

LEAVE: The Postal Service offers a generous leave program to career employees that includes annual (vacation) leave and sick leave. For the first 3 years of service, full-time employees earn 13 days of annual leave per year, increasing to 20 days per year after 3 years of service, and to 26 days per year after 15 years of service. In addition, full-time employees earn 13 days of sick leave per year as insurance against loss of income due to illness or accident.
